Kijiji provides convenient eBay like website to help you sell your items, and the ads are backed by eBay's Power Seller Program. If you already have a Gmail account, you can use your Gmail address and sign up for a Kijiji account in less than 10 minutes. If you've used a market like Rakuten Kobo before, you've probably used the Xbox Connect feature. So, all you have to do is connect your Xbox to your Xbox account on the web, then go into Game Center, and finally to Connected Devices to download your non-Xbox game apps. Today I'll show you how to do the latter on the Roku Streaming Stick. Information about the Roku Streaming Stick and how to add new apps is available at roku.com/stick. While the Android app for movies is probably not as feature-rich as the iPad app, it is a versatile app that includes a lot of the features that most people should need on a movie-viewing device. In 2013, for the first time, top content streaming service Netflix outshined cable. Think about it. People were paying $40 a month for cable and then Netflix came along and made movies and shows you can watch for less than $10 a month. With over 22,000 apps and games available, Game Center is like a box of accessories with little features that make your iPod or iPhone unique. If you play games on your Apple TV, you have access to the official Game Center website.

Facebook, iMessage, and Twitter also have apps for gaming on your Apple TV. All Apple TV devices include a "control center" app that not only lets you access the aforementioned apps from anywhere you have a connection, but it lets you customize the button layout, mute the sound for a particular app, and even change the background sound. Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, App Store, Netflix, and many more are all available on your Apple TV, from any smartphone, tablet, or computer. The app has almost exactly the same features as the iOS version of Game Center. So, what can you do with Facebook, Twitter, and Game Center?

Discover and play games, purchase apps, view the fan page for your favorite band, and play mini games
